Then, too, the nation has had its growth and development, and some lines of progress have been indicated. Within the gress have been indicated. Within the pass few weeks I had the pleasure of lifting over one of the greatest merchant steamehips that floats on the sea, that flag of brauty that hangs before me. (Cheers.) I regard it as precursor and the ploneerone, of the time when the American flag will be seen on every sea, and the American mavy is held in esteen by other nations. Only one week ago I had the pleasure of seeing the greatest steamship that has ever been built in America, a bathleship which, when completed, would be able to cope with the greatest ship England has apon the sea, float from her ways into the Delaware with the name Indians on her side. I will not speak to you of those duties which these years of absence have brought me nor their performance. I left you with but one certainty, and I return with the certainty that I had no other motive in my heart than the honor of the flag, sacredness of the constitution and the prosperity of all our people. (Cheers.) I come to you again accompanied by a great sofrow, but I trust, and your presence here gives me your witness, that unattended by any shame growing out of the discharge of my public duties, add to your kindness and to this gleat welcome which you have extended to me today the further kindness in excusing me from altempting to speak to you any further.

I shall be glad to carry out the arrangements of the committee and to take as many of you as I may by the hand in these days and weeks that are to come; to paset you in my hone and in your homes, he opportunity may offer. May God bless you all. (Cheers.)
